Lost Lives

Posted originally on the Archive of Our Own at http://archiveofourown.org/works/72174611.

Rating:
General Audiences

Archive Warning:
Major Character Death

Category:
Gen

Fandom:
Fear Equation (Video Game)

Relationship:
The Engineer & The Passengers (Fear Equation)

Characters:
The Engineer (Fear Equation), The Passengers (Fear Equation)

Additional Tags:
One Shot, Trains, Fog, Horror Lite, Fear, Minor Character Death, POV Third Person, The Engineer (Fear Equation) Is Male, autistic author, screams, Gun Fire, Wordcount: 100-500, Not Beta Read, Men Crying, Rare Fandoms, Night Terrors, Ambiguous/Open Ending, Sad Ending

Language: English

Stats:
Published: 2025-10-09 Words: 122 Chapters: 1/1

Lost Lives

by MiaQc

Summary

Another one-shot on the game Fear Equation. As night falls, as the thick Fog settles in and the passengers' nightmares begin to manifest, the train engineer suddenly opens his eyes.

- A translation of Vies Perdues by MiaQc

As night falls, as the thick Fog settles in and the passengers' nightmares begin to manifest, the train engineer suddenly opens his eyes. From where he is, he’s protected from the Fog’s effects but the passengers aren’t so lucky.

As screams and gunshots ring out, the engineer covers his ears and closes his eyes. He knows it's cowardly but he can't help himself. It's too horrible.

He manages to fall back asleep. At dawn, as the effects of the Fog wear off, the engineer receives messages in capsules through the pipes that run throughout the train. One report per wagon. There are injuries and deaths. Five deaths. Five lives lost. The engineer's eyes fill with tears. Unable to control himself, he cries.

Please drop by the Archive and comment to let the creator know if you enjoyed their work!